

HASKELL WINS

STATE SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN DECISION IN THE FAMOUS OIL AND GAS SUIT.

DECISION AGAINST WEST

RIGHT DENIED ATTORNEY GENERAL TO BRING SUITS WITHOUT GOV.'S CONSENT

COURT SUSTAINS EVERY POINT

Decision is Said to Have Been Reached With Joy Throughout the Oil District.

Guthrie, Aug. 31.—In an opinion written by Justice Turner, the supreme court Saturday sustained Gov. C. N. Haskell's application for a writ of prohibition against the Logan county district court preventing from further hearing the suit instituted by Attorney General West against the Prairie Oil & Gas company.

Neither Governor Haskell nor Attorney General West is in the city, the latter being in Colorado and the former in Muskogee. It was announced at the attorney general's office that no statement would be made in Mr. West's absence.

The case covered by Saturday's decision involved the right of the attorney general to institute suits in the name of the state, and without the governor's sanction. It arose over a suit filed against the Prairie Oil & Gas company to prevent it from building an oil pipe line from the shallow field in Washington county, through that county and through Nowata county, over the public highways, until the company has secured a charter as a domestic corporation.

The case also involved the right of eminent domain. Old producers of the northern Oklahoma fields represented to Governor Haskell that the condemnation suits in their sections depended upon the improvement contemplated.

The company announced its intention to proceed without violating the law and Governor Haskell, claiming that suits in the state's name could only be instituted upon the governor's authority, submitted a motion in the district court to dismiss the case for this reason.

The district court held against the government and an appeal was taken by the governor to the supreme court for a writ of prohibition, which it granted Saturday.

John J. Shea, of Bartlesville, who conducted the negotiations between the oil producers and Governor Haskell, said that the Prairie Oil & Gas company would resume work today, and that the line would be completed during forty days.

It was the court's holding Saturday that the powers of the governor are defined by the constitution; by that part of Art. 6, Sec. 8, which provides that he shall cause all laws to be faithfully executed, he is empowered to institute a suit for and in the name of the state.

Under Wilson's statutes of Oklahoma, Sec. 6567, the attorney general has no power to bring a suit in the name of the state, or prosecute, or defend the same in the district courts of the state in any civil or criminal cause in which the state may be a party, or interested, except when requested to do so by the governor.

PROGRAM IS FRAMED

VARIOUS COMMITTEES ON LABOR DAY HAVE THE DETAILS IN HAND.

A BIG PARADE IS PLANNED

Games and Oratory, Games and Exhibitions Are Down on the Bill.

The various committees on the Labor Day celebration held a meeting Sunday morning in Carpenter's hall to make final preparations for the event, next Monday.

After the reports of the committees it was found that each is making a satisfactory progress, and it is generally conceded that they will be one of the "big labor days" of the new state.

The general plan of the parade is this: At 9 o'clock promptly, the people will assemble at a point near the Chaney Trading company's place of business. At 10 o'clock the procession will start from the corner of Cherokee and South Main and go to Choctaw avenue, thence east to Fifth street, thence north to Grand avenue, thence east to First.

The procession will be led by the Krebs marching band. They will come in the parade bearing the Labor Day queen and her attendants. After them will come the members of the city. Next in order will be the carpenters, painters, tinners, electricians, brick masons, printers, and other unions and the "fire" department.

Arriving at the park the people will have a 1 o'clock dinner. Every one is expected to bring along a picnic basket well filled. The committee will furnish coffee to the multitude free. After dinner oratory will be the event of the day.

The following speakers will be heard: J. P. Conner, Pete Hanratty, Chas. D. Carter, C. W. Clay, Judge P. B. Cole, H. P. Robinson, W. S. Rodgers, the Mayors of McAlester, Hartshorne, Hattlesville and Krebs.

The Capital is asking for contributions from all democrats to the Democratic national campaign fund. Every democratic voter in Pittsburg county ought to give something to this fund. The party will be thankful for any amount of money from individual contributors, but desires that every one give all that he is able. The trustees of this fund for Pittsburg county are E. T. Bradley, of the First National bank, Dr. D. M. Halley of the City National bank, Ed Hocker of the Bank of McAlester and M. J. Shannon of the Bank of Krebs. All contributions sent these trustees will be acknowledged through the columns of the Capital. Send in your remittance to them AT ONCE.

HELP BRYAN.
 Appeals are being made to the democrats of this nation by hundreds of papers to the end that the democratic campaign fund may be raised from the rank and file of the party. It ought to be the pride of local democracy that the individual members have the opportunity to give of their hard earnings to this fund. Fortunately the fund is open to all contributions of one dollar and upwards will be welcome hence the average man, the fellow who is under the flag may have an opportunity to help.

It does seem that every man could raise at least one dollar for this fund but there are men in conditions of poverty and unemployment that they cannot contribute over this amount. For such there is opened a way, this year for whatever amount they are willing and able to give.

As an example of how patriotically in earnest some of the papers are about the fight the following from the Nashville American is interesting: "The American people are evidently opposed to corporate interests making contributions to political campaigns; doubtless most of the corporate interests are also opposed to giving away their money. So this is a condition where both are in agreement."

In the present campaign, both parties are making an effort to get along without the aid of the corporate money and necessarily there is already apparent a vacancy in the Bryan and Taft treasures. The democratic campaign managers have appealed to the people for funds, and some money is being collected, but the amount so far collected is pitifully small.

"The legitimate expenses of a national campaign are necessarily very heavy. There are headquarters to maintain, literature to be printed and mailed, the expenses of speakers to be paid—in a word, many demands upon the part of the campaign that cannot be neglected."

"There are millions of democrats in this country who can well afford to give $1 each, but they do not seem to come forward as readily as they should. But if it is necessary to give a dollar if one feels that one cannot afford to give that much a half dollar or a quarter dollar will help swell the fund. Yesterday, for example, democrats of the nineteenth district of Putnam county sent the American $10 to go to Treasurer Haskell. This money was collected in small amounts. The same can be done in other counties. Every little helps remember that Clubs should be formed, funds collected, and every effort put forth to achieve national victory."

"It is the people's right; aren't you interested enough to contribute something? Bryan is doing his part; won't you do yours?"

Why Green—by not means this—its out with the cheering statement that John D. ... all could stop the panic with the stroke of a pen, but they went to it, she declares. Why should they? Ask Lawson.

It is time the democrats of the various precincts of the county were getting busy with the organization of their committees to the end that some money may be in hand at once to meet the expenses of the local and national campaigns.

Why not have a meeting of the local Jeffersonian club and see if there is not work which this organization can do in the campaign which is now on in the nation? Such enthusiasm can be engendered in such a meeting.

It will be gratifying to bankers in Oklahoma to learn that the bank guaranty or sure other file of Oklahoma has had a most satisfactory effect upon bank robbers, that is, the sort operating at night and with pistol and powder. The latest reports indicate that these fellows have crossed the border and are now operating in Canada, at a comfortable distance from us; where they made $12,000 at the first haul.

Now that ex-senator Carmack of Tennessee has again entered the field of Journalism, which he left to enter the senate some years ago, the shining public marks of Tennessee would be well to keep an eye open to cover as possible. He has assumed the editor-in-chiefship of the Tennesseean, a Nashville publication and a bitter opponent of the Nashville American on which the senator was at one time a writer. The sequel will be read with interest.

The New York Times recently gave a symposium in the nature of side lights on Tom Lawson. The American people are not so much interested in side and flash lights on this enigmatic character. What they want is an understudy which is correct as well as convincing. A book on the "Real Lawson" would prove instructive just at this time, that is before the public begins to buy and be bought up by the "System's" knocker.

Of course the democratic council in this city is "punch," that is according to the partisan view of some others, who could hardly see beyond their own party when looking for all public virtue, all honor and all excellence. Such men are to rigid in their political bias to make first class madmen. There are some weak men in the council; to be sure, but they are measured up and shaken down in the ratio of two to one, it's six in one and half a dozen in the other as to which side has the first stone to cast.

MURRAY DENIES IT IN TOTAL.
 "Not Say 'Thick-Lipped Negro Better Than a Socialist.'"
 Guthrie, Aug. 31.—My attention has just been called to a press dispatch under a Maricopa head line of August 29, published in the Chickasha Journal, in which the following statement is alleged to have been made by myself: "I think more of a black, thick-lipped African negro than I do of a socialist."

Replying to this statement, I have to say I do not recall, and know to be false by the author of the same, that he distinctly stated in the Chickasha Journal that he thought the socialist is not thanks for their independent thought, which cause me to think that the world owes to the old populist party a debt of gratitude for their independence; that there is a wide distinction between socialist reforms which I advocate and socialism as a form of doctrine of government, and then proceeded to be dangerous.

It is plain to be seen that the republicans have again began a campaign with falsehood a sheer bias argument. It is willing to leave it with the Republicans and democrats, who heard me at McAlester, to testify as to the truth of the statement charged to me in the above.

HAY FEVER.
 Listen
 To the chorus,
 Before us
 Lies the month
 Of the big sneeze.

These August days
 We are all going,
 And the blowing
 Is like unto the blast
 Of forty-sycloes
 And a roaring gale,
 It sweeps the pollen,
 Settles its pollen,
 And the man,
 Woman or child
 Who has the hay fever habit
 Tries earnestly
 To cough
 Off his head,
 And they fly
 Nip, nip, nip,
 Those who can fill
 Do so
 'Ting, Crisco.

On some lonely 'side
 Or go in style
 To the mountain tops,
 Where the incense
 Drops
 Down to where
 Common people feel
 Like associating with it.
 Near the snow line
 They rest
 And pine,
 Not for the fragrant
 Meadows—
 Not they!
 Say,
 One touch of hay fever
 And they fly
 Toward the sky—
 If they have the money,
 They fly—Nashville American.

THE COLLECTOR'S REFRAIN.
 How Hard Knocks in McAlester Boo the Lives of Aspiring Poets.
 Once a month, or oftener, cometh the visitor of wax to visit the town. Whence he cometh no one knows, nor how far he goeth, but like the brook of Tennyson this man of the empty bag, cometh and goeth as he will. Souls of the poets may many of these tormented visitors and oft in their musings, when the day's work is done, or the candle burneth low, or the heart is broken at the rebuff, they sit themselves beside the still waters beneath the shadows of the chestnut tree and bewail the fact that "a man is a man for a' that and a' that."

Bobby Burns found enough time from gadding government liquor to fire the world with a hollow, element through his verse. He perhaps was once a collector, and 't had in this world of ours, the motto, to be a stinky son of McAlester, who had struck hard the shards and was about to quit the game, sat down beside the china tree in McAlester and mused thus, in the words of Burns, over the fate of this city.

"Tis a very good town to live in—To lend or to spend or to give; But to beg or to borrow, or to get a man's own."

"Tis the very worst town that ever was known!"

IRRIGATION CONGRESS.
 Great Impetus Given Movement on Its Meeting in New Mexico.
 North Yakima, Wash., Aug. 29.—Lelgh R. Freeman, managing editor of the Northwest Farm and Home, published at North Yakima, Wash., known in that section as the "father and mother of irrigation," takes an active interest in the forthcoming national irrigation congress, Albuquerque, N. M., September 29, to October 10. It was Mr. Freeman who went to the Boise congress with the slogan, "We are coming Father Teddy for 300,000,000 more!" That song is in his heart this year, and North Yakima is to be the next meeting place of the congress. He also favors a resolution advocating chairs, of irrigation in western colleges, and it is likely that by his efforts the Washington state university will have one. With these schemes in mind, Mr. Freeman and a strong delegation are coming from Washington to the Albuquerque congress. In a letter to the board of control, Mr. Freeman has this to say on the subject of more and larger appropriations for irrigation: "Roosevelt is asking for a half million dollars for the Mississippi waterway, while Hobson asks for a million for the navy. We say put these two half millions together, and give us a billion direct appropriation by congress for national irrigation for every state in the union, and we will show you one billion white-men under the stars and stripes and then we will need no navy to bluff Japan, or any other nation or combination of nations. Irrigation is the paramount issue before the American people, and will do more to build new homes than did the homestead law; in fact, more than all the other land laws combined."

Besides North Yakima, Spokane, or the same, will be a candidate for the office of 1909. Seattle was a candidate, but pulled out of the race, it is said, for Spokane.

Doctor Gets Off Easy.
 Sulphur, Aug. 29.—Dr. G. H. Harvey, who has for several days been on trial here charged with the murder of one of the boys of the Santa Fe crushing plant, was Thursday found guilty of manslaughter in the second degree and fined $100 and costs. Harry operated on the skull of Dargh last Christmas night and removed part of the scalp, from the effects of which the patient never recovered.

The habits of a plant lice are very similar, and the remedy is the same, being varied according to the conditions regarding size and form of the plants, vines or trees to be treated, and depending somewhat on the facilities for obtaining and applying the various mixtures. The green aphid which affects the apple, plum, prune and other fruit trees, is numerous at this time of the year, and can only be treated with a spray that will kill the eggs and the young, which kills the lice before they begin to feed. A strong spray is required to force the mixture into the depths of the foliage and to keep the green, peach, plum, etc., from being injured.

Plant Lice Remedy.
 A Tenney's pruner 27 1/2 has made a handy pruning tool by attaching a chisel to the end of a long pole. But the tool is not the limb and hit the end of the pole with a hammer. If the tool is kept sharp it will remove the limb close to the branch and leave no ragged edges. It need climbing the trees with the instrument.

When Making Pillows.
 When making pillows rub the inside of the ticking with a bar of stamped laundry soap and the feathers will never force themselves through the fabric. Another method is to wet the ticking. To do this get some borax and a hot fatiron, then rub the iron on the wax and place it on the material, repeating this till the whole has been gone over.

Keep Fruit Cans Ready.
 To have fruit cans ready for use when fruit is emptied, wash thoroughly with cold water, and drain for a minute. Then fill with water and add three or four good shakes of salt into can over, without rubber, and screw on tight. When wanted rinse well with cold water.

also be necessary to spray more than once to rid the trees of the pest.
 Black Leaf Dip, a tobacco preparation gotten up primarily for the purpose of killing parasites on cattle, sheep and hogs, has been found an excellent remedy for the green aphid and other plant lice. The dip is used in the proportion of one gallon to 70 gallons of water.
 A tobacco emulsion made in the proportion of one pound of soap to eight gallons of water, is a good remedy. This is easily prepared simply requiring to dissolve the soap in the water and apply the same as the kerosene emulsion.
 A tobacco emulsion made by boiling whole leaf tobacco, one pound to four gallons of water, or two pounds of tobacco stems or dust to four gallons of water, is said to be as effective as the black leaf dip though perhaps more expensive and more difficult to prepare.

No lime should be used in any of these preparations. The lime and sulphur preparation heretofore described and advocated for the green aphid and the woolly aphid is not to be used during the growing season. It will injure the foliage, so is used just before a winter wash or as a spray just before the buds open in spring.

When Cows Should Dry.
 As to when cows should be dried from milking, a physician giving him his own experience says that the best time to own extent on the quality and vigor of the cow, and that a cow in poor condition may be allowed two months in which to recruit her strength, with advantage to herself and her prospective calf, but this is to some extent a matter of keep, for the poor cow generally belongs to the poor feeder, and, if the feeding is generous, the animal healthy, and the quantity of milk produced pays expenses there is no reason why the period of rest should not be further reduced, in the case of the average cow, the milking can be continued until within a month of calving. If a cow is in low condition, it is better, in our opinion, to rest her for a few weeks than to dry for many years, sometimes being milked for a month of calving, that have carried as good an appearance, and produced equally good calves in the country. This amount of rest three times as long. Six weeks may be considered the average period during which a cow should be dry, unless the circumstances are exceptional.

Great Dairy Industry.
 The milk industry is a vital one, affecting the production and consumption of over 9,000,000,000 gallons in the United States per year, being an annual supply of over one hundred gallons for every man, woman and child in the country. This amount of milk is divided 11 quarts a day for every individual, which includes the milk used in making butter and cheese. The actual amount of whole milk consumed in the United States is estimated at 100,000,000 gallons per year at retail is the starting sum of 2,600,000,000 of dollars. This is about one-fifth of the value of the nation, five times as much as the value of the entire wheat crop, nearly twice the value of the corn crop, and over one-third of the entire value of farm products for 1907, which is estimated at 87,400,000,000. The wholesale value of dairy products last year was estimated at $800,000,000, which would allow a price of less than ten cents a gallon for milk at the dairy. An average retail price of seven cents a quart was assumed, which is probably a little below the average price.—Cons. Station Bulletin.

Fertilizer for Orchards.
 Quite late last season we used basic slag on a peach orchard kept in sod. The soil is poor and the trees are nearly run out. Judged from the parent results last year there was little or no benefit, but this spring the sliver has come up all over the field, and never saw it better. We think this result is due to the lime rather than the phosphoric acid in the slag. It is evident that where this fertilizer is used on sod it should be applied early.

Roast Beef Tongue.
 Soak a fresh tongue for several hours in cold salt water, and when it will fall slowly for two hours, remove the skin and roast in the oven. While cooking baste with butter. Serve with currant jelly.

Protect Fruit Cans.
 Shelves for precious china may have pads of felt to prevent chipping the shelves. When fragile plates need to be stored over a small, plain wooden cabinet, place a pad of felt between the plates and the cabinet.

Thinking Apples.
 Thinking apples and other fruit is a practice that is not only unprofitable, but also unhygienic. Some fruit is not so good as it looks, and fancy prices are obtained only by proper thinking. It makes the fruit larger, sweeter, and more attractive, but it does not make it any better.

A VETERAN DIES

Miss Harriet Byron Chase of New London, Conn., the wedding taking place at Warren, Ohio. His wife was related to Salmon P. Chase, formerly chief justice of the United States supreme court, and to Wm. R. Day of Spanish War fame, who is now associate justice of the United States supreme court.

Returning with his bride to Tennessee, he became professor of mathematics, natural philosophy and astronomy at Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tenn. In 1854 his wife tendered and accepted a like chair at the University of Nashville, remaining there one year. He was then offered the chancellorship of Washington University in St. Louis, but declined, giving as his reason the fact that he had two sons whom he thought best to keep at home on so large a city. One of these sons, A. G. Stewart, located in St. Louis in later life and became one of the foremost men of that city.

In 1857 he returned to Lebanon Tenn., resuming his former chair at Cumberland University. When war talk became serious he or-inally engaged him, married to William C. Harrison, then governor of Mississippi. By reason of his military training Governor Harrison recognized the value of the man to the cause and at once delegated him to raise a state army. He also organized and instructed what was later known as the Tennessee Artillery Battalion, consisting of 20 artillery batteries, which he placed in command of this battalion, and together with the state army, he was tendered by Tennessee to the Confederate government. The battalion was assigned to the Army of the Mississippi River.

In the spring of 1862 he was ordered to Corinth, Miss., and in the famous battle of Shiloh commanded the troops during a desperate engagement during which he was placed in command of this battalion, and together with the state army, he was tendered by Tennessee to the Confederate government. SAVING THE GRAPE CROP.

Use of Bags Will Save Clusters from Birds and Insects. In growing this luscious fruit in the north we meet with two very destructive pests, the vine bug and black rot of the fruit, which render the crop very uncertain. I feel sure that three-fourths of all the fruit raised upon our vines in the north is destroyed by these pests, writes a Massachusetts correspondent of Farm and Home, and, mind, were it not for them grape growing in sheltered places and on high, southern elevations might be a profitable industry. The vine bug grows vigorously, and in favorable locations frosts seldom destroy the crop until the fruit is ripe, or injure the vine. When there are but few vines, as in the home garden, upon arbor or on buildings, the roach bug attacks and destroys the blossoms year after year, and we wonder why our vines do not bear. If the blossoms begin to open, for three or four days the weather is hot and the vines growing rapidly, or for a week or ten days if cold and the vines are growing slowly. The common remedy

FOR A DAINTY SANDWICH. Right kind of Bread and Proper Knife Are Essential. The reason so many persons think dainty sandwiches are a nuisance to make is that they have neither the right kind of bread nor the proper knives to cut it with. When making sandwiches in quantity it is much better to have a long square loaf with a perfectly even, smooth crust. The grain should also be close, as the porous bread is more apt to break. Such a shape permits the slice to be cut diagonally to make two triangles or it can be divided into three strips for dainty sandwiches. Some people cut off the crusts before slicing the bread, but unless it is a day old it is more apt to break than if the crusts are not removed until just before the bread is sliced. Thin knife blades kept very sharp is essential if the edges of the bread are to look clean out. When sliced eaters in the form of circles, slices of crispness are used, they should never be allowed to get dull. Always butter the bread before cutting it from the loaf. Have butter spread and slightly soft; so it spreads easily. Do not use too much of it. Always butter it on both sides of bread. Put slices evenly together. If the spread is not used there is every chance of the bread becoming soggy. It is essential to get opposite sides together so they will be true in shape. Whenever the slices do not stick it is no sign of anything as a sandwich should be kept in shape. Buttered Raisins. Raisins to give zest to an incubation. Put half a minced onion into a saucpan with a tablespoonful of butter and four tablespoonfuls of sugar. (Onion can be bought at any fruit and vegetable store.) Boil until reduced to half the quantity. Beat up the yolks of three eggs and add to the butter. Beat the saucpan in a water saucpan of boiling water on the stove, and work in by degrees four ounces of butter, stirring the saucpan until it has become creamy. Remove the onion, pour in the butter, and add a little pepper and cayenne, and a saucpan of chopped parsley. Reheat the sauce and serve very hot. Venice Pudding. Five ounces of shag bread cut into small pieces, three ounces of lemon peel, three ounces of sugar, three ounces raisins. Pour a little wine over this and stew awhile. Put a little butter into a pan with a little milk, have or four lumps of sugar. Stir until turned a light brown. Take four eggs and beat. Then make a custard with these, and the buttered milk, also the remainder of a pint of milk, the remainder of all the others, put into a buttered mold and stand in a saucpan of boiling water. Boil for three or four hours until firm in the center. Turn out and serve with a good sauce. Chile Sauce from Canned Tomatoes. To one gallon of tomatoes add three large onions and two green peppers chopped fine, three-fourths cup pure elder vinegar, one-half cup corn oil or lard, and one-half cup of salt. Put in a large kettle, and cook for three hours until the mixture is thick. Strain through a cloth and serve with a good sauce.

but owing to some conditions not fully understood or imperfect application, does not seem to be effective at the north, and in the fruit cluster seems to be the only certain remedy for both of the above pests on a small scale as by the amateur. Bagging consists in taking cheap grocers' one-pound bags, and as soon as the blossom buds are well developed placing the mouth of the bag over the cluster, fastening it to the stem of the leaf opposite each cluster. The bag should be folded over so that rain cannot run into it, and either one or two bags used. With such varieties as the Brighton and others not quite self-fertile, the bags should not be put on until the berries are well formed, or about the size of B shot. The cost of this work in a commercial way may be more than the crop would warrant unless done very rapidly and skillfully, but in the home garden or upon hillside where one can do it at leisure moments, the safety and perfection of the bagged bunches will give a great amount of satisfaction, and possibly profit. There is no danger in the time required to put on the bags, but anyone active and skillful with the fingers ought to be able to put on several thousand a day, and the cost of bags and pins is not but little money as compared with the loss of all of the crop. If the rose bags are not troublesome, bags need not be put on until the berries are well formed, and only these large bunches can be profitably covered, as the small ones can only be used for cooking purposes.
