Notes About the Lodges.

The Illinois Masonic home is caring for eighty-one children, thirty-eight boys and forty-three girls. This home is located in Chicago and is valued at $60,000.

Work has begun on the new temple to be erected in Portland, Oregon, and it will be ready for occupancy by January 1, 1907. The building will cost $125,000 and the furnishings $25,000 more.

It should always be remembered that Masonic degrees are not for sale and that they are bestowed only on those who are believed to be worthy and well qualified to receive them.

The Ladies' Shrine of West Virginia is said to be the only ladies' shrine in the world. This organization now has a membership of three hundred in the state.

The new Masonic temple to be erected in Greenville, S. C., will cost about $75,000 and will be used largely for business purposes, ample room being left, however, for the use of the Masonic bodies.

The traveling trowel which was sent out by Justice lodge of New York some time ago is arousing a great deal of interest in the lodges in which it is received. It was taken to Washington lodge of Buffalo on Washington's birthday, and on that occasion the Bible on which the Father of His Country took the oath of Masonry was brought from the archives of Fredericksburg lodge of Virginia, together with a lock of Washington's hair and other relics. These will accompany the silver trowel around the world. At each lodge where the trowel is received a full record is made of the ceremony and all who took part and these records are to be returned to Justice lodge of New York and there kept in the archives forever. The trowel will go to Maryland, where the records will receive the signature of King Edward, and it will go to Japan, where the emperor of the fighting island kingdom will inscribe his name, and hundreds of other distinguished rulers and statesmen throughout all the nations of the world will sign the documents, showing that they had a part in "spreading the torch of brotherly love" with the trowel sent out from the new republic of the new world.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

A recent report of the supreme keeper of records and seal shows the order had a membership of 850,239 on the first of the year. Since then large gains have been made.

The largest gains in enrollment rank membership last year were made by the following grand domains: Illinois, 753; Ohio, 733; Texas, 617.

The Pythians of the Indian Territory have made splendid progress during the past year and now have a membership of close to 5,000.

True Odd Fellowship shows itself in the desire to help and protect and care for the weak, the feeble and the helpless.

The order in Oklahoma is in a most flourishing condition, recent reports showing a net gain of 157 members for the past year.

Eighty-six years ago Odd Fellowship took hold on American soil, the first lodge being founded in Maryland. Since that time the growth of the order has been a striking phenomenon, having spread all over the United States and practically over the entire American continent.

At the present time there are about forty Odd Fellows' homes scattered throughout the different jurisdictions, established at a cost of more than $1,500,000 and maintained at an annual expense of approximately $350,000, where several thousand dependent children and helpless aged who have claims upon the order are cared for.

The order is paying out annually in sick benefits and for the relief and care of sick and needy members, widows and orphans nearly $3,000,000. During the eighty-seven years of its existence the order has distributed more than $109,000,000.

MODERN WOODMEN.

The Modern Woodmen is doing business in thirty-nine states and territories in this country.

Since organization the order has paid 27,480 death claims amounting to $5,085,000.16.

Recent reports show the society was never more prosperous than at the present time.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD

The Woodmen of the World differs from all other orders in that they pay $100 for a monument at the death of their insured members.

THE EAGLES.

The Order of Eagles, which was organized in 1898, dispenses more than $900,000 annually in benevolence and charity.

Nell selected the eagle some time last winter and it has been ready for the president's use ever since.

Successful Omelet Must Be Cooked in Small Pan. Beat Eggs Not Beaten Too Much. Omelets are helpful in solving the problem of getting a sufficient number of eggs in the right manner, as there is almost an unlimited variety. To be successful the pan should be clean and smooth, they must be cooked immediately, the omelet must be small and the eggs must not be beaten too much.

Plain Omelet. Beat the yolks of four eggs and two tablespoons of water; put in one-half teaspoonful of salt and a dash of pepper, then gently fold in the beaten whites. Drop one-half tablespoonful of butter into a hot frying pan. Uphill the pan so that the sides and bottom will be thoroughly covered. Turn in the omelet quickly, and when the center looks dry run a knife against the edge, then under the half covered by the handle and fold over. Slide carefully on to a warm plate and garnish with parsley. Serve immediately.

Ham Omelet. To the yolks of four eggs add four tablespoons of water, a small teaspoonful of finely chopped ham and a few sprigs of parsley, and beat vigorously. Beat whites stiff and gently stir them into the mixture. Have a tablespoonful of butter melted in a spider, pour in the omelet, and stir with a fork until it becomes quite a thick mass. Turn out on a hot plate, fold over, and garnish with parsley.

The Bestiacle Side. Garnishing should never interfere with eating or serving, and should at least have an appearance of being simple if not in fact. Parsley and watercress are the most practical garnishes, for they look well with almost any dish. If parsley is not obtainable fine celery tips may be used.

Hard Parsley. Has a fresh, crisp, dry parsley have a dash of hot oil poured over it, and then drop it into a frying basket, then dip the basket into hot fat; let it remain half a minute, then lay on coarse brown paper until it is cooled. Parsley may be used either hard boiled and sliced, or the hard boiled yokes may be grated and sprinkled over or around a dish; the grated yokes are effective on spinach.

Remove the green parts for fish and meats, such as fish, oysters and lobster cutlets. They are cut in quarters and a portion served on the plate of each person.

Paper frills for decorating broiled chops are made by folding and fringing bits of paper, then wrapping around the end of the chop to keep the grease from coming through.

Boiled carrots and beets sliced with vegetable cutters into fancy shapes are nice for cold meats, and have a nice appearance when served with a white sauce.

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS. Instead of cleaning the windows with soap and water try rubbing them with a cloth dipped in a mixture of ammonia and whiting and then polish with a clean cloth. This makes them much brighter than if soap and water are used.

An unusually thrifty mother suggests that when holes in the heels or toes of the children's stockings are too big to darn, a good plan is to cut out the worn parts and sew on a new piece of cloth or darning cotton to go round and round the hole, gradually diminishing the number of stitches until the hole is completely filled up. This no doubt makes the hole last longer.

What using stale bread for puddings always soak it in a cold liquid. Bread that has been soaked in cold milk or water is the best, whereas bread that is soaked in hot liquids is heavy.

It always seems a pity to have to string pictures up on wires or cords. The question is whether it is not more of a pity than to give small nails into the wall paper. The latter procedure makes less noise when the pictures are removed, and the small pictures can be hung on very slender nails, which when withdrawn, leave a scarcely visible hole. If wires are used, the holes are as large as possible, and the pictures are as likely as not to hang as so perfectly flat against the wall. Anything more hideous than a picture tilted at an angle of 45 degrees is unimaginable.

Remove the scratches from varnished floor by going over them carefully with a sandpaper which has been dipped in solution of ammonia until they disappear. Nothing should touch the places until they are quite dry.

Have your refrigerator sweet and clean and ready for use by burning in a few sticks of burning sulphur, which leaves the door open, allowing it to air thoroughly. If mothers, when buying new shoes for the children, would adopt the following plan, they would find that their children would be less likely to get the damp, "Procure some" bottled seed oil, pour it into a large tin dish or tin and pour the shoes to stand in for about a hour or until the soles are well soaked. This does not, however, apply to brown shoes. For a dangerous wound made by a rusty nail or a jagged knife, the best remedy is to apply pork rind. It should be cut in small pieces for several days, drawn out and then put on. Inflammation - Dost's Budget and Beacon.

MINERALS OF THIS CHARACTER ARE NOT IN GREAT DEMAND IN THIS COUNTRY. A mistaken impression prevailed in this country for several years that there was a large demand for lithium minerals. The result was overproduction. However, the overproduction fell to practically nothing. As reported by Mr. H. O. Hovey, special agent of the United States geological survey, the amount of only 21,000 tons, valued at $252. All of it came from San Diego county, Cal.

The output of lithium minerals in the United States had amounted to 677 short tons, valued at $5,155 in 1907 to 1,156 short tons, valued at $23,420. There were no imports of lithium salts into the United States during 1906.

The mines of Pennington county, S. D., which are the principal source of lithium in the United States, were entirely idle during 1905. It is not likely that work on them will be resumed before the stocks of ore now on hand have been considerably depleted.

Practically the only minerals which have been mined, as ores of lithium have been amblygonite, lepidolite, and spodumene. Amblygonite has been found in commercial quantities only near Salt Lake, San Diego county, Cal.

The clerk was smiling broadly and the caller asked him the cause of his cheerfulness, relates the Baltimore Item.

Why, it's a story a Missourian who is traveling here for a week, about a friend of his who is a well-known contractor here in Baltimore.

"Shall we have the story?" asked the caller.

"Sure," returned the other, "only my sleep is so disturbed that I can't get any rest."

"John," she said, "what are you doing there?"

"I'm rocking baby to sleep."

"Baby's been asleep for over an hour," said the patient wife reproachfully. "John, what are you doing there?"

"IT SAVED MY LIFE" PRAISE FOR A FAMOUS MEDICINE. Mrs. Willadsen Tells How She Tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Just in Time.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen of Manning, Iowa, writes to Mrs. Pinkham: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

I can truly say that you have saved my life. I cannot express my gratitude to you in words.

Before I wrote to you, telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years and spent lots of money on medicines besides, which did me no good. At one time my periods had ceased and I suffered much pain, with fainting attacks, backache and bearing-down pains, and I was so weak I could hardly keep my head.
