Bon Bonnetre pays the following tribute to woman:

"True, she cannot sharpen a pencil, outside of commercial circles, she can't tie a package to make it look like anything save a crooked cross section of chaos; but land of miracles! see what she can do: with a pin she can make a walk of many miles around a billiard table with nothing to eat, and nothing (to speak of) to drink, but she can walk the floor all night with a fearful baby. She can ride 500 miles without going into a smoking car to rest (and get away from the children). She can go on an evening visit without smoking half a dozen cigars. She can endure the distraction of a mouse-fair of children all day while her husband sends them all to bed before he has been down an hour. A boy with a sister is fortunate to follow with a cousin is to be envied, a man with a sweetheart is a king, and a man with a good wife is doubly blessed more than they all.

Too Bros. are still showing out those new Spring dress goods, shoes, hats, etc., and they make the prices low in the hard times; in fact, they claim that they will wrap up more goods for a dollar than any house in the Territory.

The train men it seems are growing very careless, and often do not stop long enough for women and children to have time to get on and off. We think after one has paid fare they should have sufficient time to get aboard without taking so hazardous chances as they often do.

Son of Dr. Hallum, of this Territory, jumped from a moving train Saturday night after having assisted his mother on board, and was considerably injured in which for a short time doubts were entertained as to his recovery, but to-day he is convalescent and much better. It had not been long since Miss Jennie Comper, one of the teachers in our school, jumped from a moving train and was considerably shocked. She came on board with her father, Rev. E. C. Comper who had been there on a visit and was returning home to see from that people would jump that it is very dangerous to jump from a moving train.

A young lady arrived at the editor's house Wednesday, and from her appearance she has come to stay. Mother and child doing well, but it had in the BAZOO.
